BOOTS AND SHOES CHEAP.

We claim to have the best assorted stock of

Boots

AND

Shoes

In Prince Albert, and are selling at prices which defy competition.

The Northern Part

The last spike, a golden one, has been driven by President Villard, on the Northern Pacific, near Helena, Montana, and is now open for traffic from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The event was celebrated by a grand double ovation at St. Paul and Minneapolis, the eastern termini of the road. This road was originally projected by Jay Gould, and has been about ten years in building.

The C. P. R. will last of time by some years as it is expected it will be finished by 1885.

The Royal Readers.

We have received from the publishers James Campbell & Son, Toronto, a series of the Royal Readers, five books beautifully illustrated with 450 engravings and wood cuts, one or two by the Princess Louise, authorized for the use in the public schools of Ontario by the Minister of Education. These books contain a choice selection from all the standard authors in poetry and prose and will form a valuable addition to the school literature of the Dominion. Specimen copies have been received by T. N. Campbell of this place, and will soon be on sale here at very reasonable prices.

The River Traffic.

We understand from Capt. Landsdale that notwithstanding the general lowness of the water this summer, a great deal more freight will be handled this season than last. The Manitoba leading with 1,070 tons, (120 tons of which was taken through to Edmonton in one trip and 135 the next); next comes the North West with 550 tons; and the Northwest about 500 tons; for this season's work. There has been a large increase in the local freight. There was an accumulation of 500 tons at Custerland from last year, which was cleared out in one trip and taken to Prince Albert, Carleton and Fort Pitt. There is no doubt that next year, with improved boats, 800-ton drafts, and by adopting the South Branch route early in the spring a large business will be done.

St. Andrew's Society.

A meeting of St. Andrew's and their descendants in Prince Albert was held on Friday evening last, the 28th Sept., at the old Mission school room for the purpose of forming a national society. There were present about fifteen, but over thirty have already signified their intention of joining. Mr. Hugh J. Montgomery was called to the chair, and Mr. W. Napier was appointed secretary. On motion of Mr. John Stewart, seconded by Mr. W. R. Gunn, it was resolved that a Scottish society be formed in Prince Albert. Mr. Wm. Campbell moved that the society be called the "St. Andrew's Society of Prince Albert," and seconded by Mr. Andrew Hamilton, and passed. Mr. John Stewart proposed that a committee be appointed to obtain the names of those desirous of joining such a society, and to draft rules and by laws to be submitted at a general meeting to be called for that purpose, which was seconded by Mr. C. Slater, and passed. The following committee was then appointed: Messrs. W. Napier, J. Stewart, W. Campbell, W. Miller, W. R. Gunn, J. C. Slater, and J. Macdonald. Several gentlemen then addressed the meeting in favor of the project, after which the meeting was adjourned for a fortnight to receive the report of the committee. We need not doubt that from the number of students in Prince Albert, and their descendants in Prince Albert, that an influential society will be formed, and will be working order before St. Andrew's Day, the 30th of November. It will not be in order for the sons of St. Patrick to form a similar society, of whom there are a goodly number in Prince Albert.

CHIT-CHAT LOCALS.

Gathered by our Reporters.

The Press.

The latest addition to the press of the North West is the Calgary Herald, a weekly paper the size of the Regina Leader, which we will be glad to put on our list of exchanges. The next one, we suppose, will be the Rocky Mountain Progress, a paper published somewhere on one of the peaks of the Rockies, and so it goes.

The pen is truly mightier than the sword.

Incorporation.

At a stormy meeting of the Council on Sept. 12th, the Governor, and appointed members opposed the incorporation of Regina. Jackson, of Troy, attacked in a great speech the conduct of the Governor on the subject of the incorporation of Regina, as without incorporation his water and fire protection could be laid.

If this is the way the N. W. Council is going to oppose the well understood wishes of the people, the sooner it is abolished the better, or rather that part of it which is nominated by the Government.

Hard Times.

It is all nonsense to say that goods do not sell. We admit that sales are smaller, but there are sales, nevertheless. People wear clothes, buy machines, eat and drink the same as they always did. The girls get into love, lovers marry, the babe is sold to its mother is debilitated, the father gets the child, the same now as when the money was flusher, and the situation have to be supplied now as then. And the baby born sixteen years ago, if it is a girl, wants her piano to-day and the same as she always did. The girl gets into love, lovers marry, the babe is sold to its mother is debilitated, the father gets the child, the same now as when the money was flusher, and the situation have to be supplied now as then. THE PRINCE ALBERT TIMES

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1883.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE SASKATCHEWAN.

It will be remembered by many of the residents of Prince Albert that a very lively interest was taken in the improvement of the navigation of the Saskatchewan by Mr. James Turner, of Hamilton, during his extended tour through this country last summer. Shortly after his return to Ontario he prepared an elaborate report, based upon his own observation and upon trustworthy data furnished him by the old pilots and steamboat captains on the river, and coupled with it much sensible and practical advice as to how the Government appropriation should be expended. It will be a pleasure to him to know that in all particulars the Government have followed his advice. There has been no useless outlay in sending engineers from the Department of Public Works to report, but, as suggested by Mr. Turner, the Government selected an experienced man—one Mr. Burbank, a gentleman who has spent a lifetime in superintending such work. In accordance with instructions, he arrived here early in the summer with a staff of twenty-four or twenty-five men. One half of these he sent to Edmonton, the other half remaining here. Flat boats, or scows, were at once constructed, and in a very short time the necessary machinery was placed in them and the work of improvement begun. We cannot say positively what progress has been made, but from statements which have been recently circulated, we are inclined to think that the prosecution of the work has not been as vigorous as might be expected, not, we believe, because Mr. Burbank lacks the necessary knowledge—that he has—nor because the necessary energy and diligence have been lacking in order to make headway and a good showing for the expenditure. (The appropriation from the Dominion Government this year amounted to $15,000.) This may be owing in some degree to the lack of proper appliances for blasting, common blasting powder having been used instead of dynamite. The scows were also built of too small a size and of too light a capacity for towing, we understand. These defects must be remedied next season. Meanwhile, we just advert to the general enterprise in the preceding terms in view of the statements which have been made in reference to the alleged slow progress of the work. It is possible that Mr. Burbank may be able to put another color on it all, and that before the season closes the improvements effected will fully justify the expenditure. It is not to be expected, of course, that this season's work could remove more than a limited portion of the boulders or provide the clearances required to make the channel what it ought to be. Several years' work will be needed before this can be effected, and large additional appropriations. The river is a good one naturally (as all the river men say), and the exceptionally low water of this season is a test of its most limited capacity to carry bottoms. In connection with the contemplated improvements, it seems highly necessary that the vessels at present navigating the river should be greatly altered and modified so as by lighter draught to be able to cope with the emergency of exceptionally low water, as was the case this season. The vessels at present in use are top hampered for the sake of passenger travel, whereas the primary idea should be to carry freight and not passengers. If this were borne in mind, there is no reason why, even in the lowest water, regular trips might not be made by steamers properly constructed with great length and breadth of beam, and with no displacement from unwieldy and heavy top gear—of any moment. The advantage of the adoption of this class of boats—drawing a minimum of water—would be the reduction of the price of freights and regular and uninterrupted communication at any stage of the water. As we have said, the river is naturally a good one—better than the Missouri or the Upper Mississippi in many places. But the ingenuity of man must add the powers of nature, and place such boats upon the river as are found on those just mentioned. It is astonishing how little water these boats draw, and it is said that on one occasion a Mississippi captain offered to make a bet that he would run his boat "on a heavy dew." It is reported that the Navigation Company intend to strip all the boats upon the upper river, and if so they will probably make the required alterations. The commanders of the fleet and superintending of the line, Capt. Davis, is an experienced hand, accustomed to the navigation of rivers where impediments exist, and his advice and judgment will be invaluable in the construction or purchase of a new class of boats. Now that the old Lily is safely laid to rest at the bottom of the South Branch, it is to be hoped she will be replaced next season by a couple of first-class boats of the character we have alluded to, and that the practicability of this route by the South Branch to Medicine Hat will be fairly tested early in the spring.

Since writing the above we have been informed on reliable authority—that but little work has been done so far towards removing the obstructions between this place and the Forks. In the first of the season a few of the boulders were blasted, but as soon as the water rose a little, all the men were removed to Edmonton and very little has since been done lower down. This is not right. Probably the worst rapids in the river are at the Cole Falls. If a force of men had been concentrated there during the last month when the river has been remarkably low and the boulders exposed, much might have been done towards improving the navigation for next spring. As it is, there is yet abundance of time during this month to do a great deal of work before the river closes, and we call the attention of Mr. Burbank to the importance of getting to work at this part of the river.

There is no doubt that the old-fashioned style of drilling and blasting with ordinary powder is not suited for the present age. It will take about ten years at the rate the work is now progressing and will present applicants to get through the Saskatchewan River. A few dynamite cartridges laid on the surface of the boulders will do more execution in five minutes than could be done in so many days, or even weeks, by the old method. We understand that operations with dynamite or nitroglycerine could be as well, if not better, executed in winter than in summer. It is worth the trial.

American justice may not be altogether behind, but it is difficult to conceive by what course of reasoning the Missouri jury who sat on the case of Frank James arrived at the conclusion that that celebrated outlaw and murderer was "not guilty." There was never a more flagrant case of cheating the gallows of its due.

ORGANIZATION OR EJECTION?

The term ejection, as used in the Land Act, is evidently one of very doubtful etymology, and is being interpreted by the Government officials here in a way which will not allow a dozen of those who made homestead entries since about October, 1882, to hold their claims. The vast majority of those who have entered for claims during the past two years will in all probability be compelled to become suppliants or be ejected from their claims, unless false representations have been made to and endorsed by the inspector. Under these circumstances, it is not at all surprising that a feeling of insecurity and general distrust, which has been greatly enhanced by the refusal of the inspector to give settlers any information as to the nature of the report to be furnished by him, pervades the settlement. Murmurs, not loud but deep, are heard on every side, and settlers are determined that come what may they will not leave the claims which they regard as theirs by every law human or divine, unless forcibly ejected therefrom. Petitions and representations to Government have been alike systematically ignored, until the day of petitioning has passed by. An organization that will enable them to protect their own seems to be about the only course left for the settlers, and organization in the present state of affairs means something more decisive than that word is usually meant to imply. It means not only the banding together of those suffering from the absurd requirements of either the Department of Interior or Government officials, but also of those whose petitions for the redress of their grievances have been treated with silent contempt. Such an organization would also imply some more specific purpose than the redrafting of petitions which, like their predecessors, would in all probability be consigned to the waste basket. If the officials cannot delay surely some of the friends of the powers that be can induce them to pause. There are now at least only a short time ago were able to control such a wonderful influence with the Cabinet? Will not the immediate companions of Sir Charles Tupper or the bosom friends of Sir John Macdonald assist us in this matter?

EDITORIAL NOTES

American papers say we have had two inches of snow this season in the North West. It is the oldest story. "Go from home to get home news."

Major Walker, of Calgary, says the Hamilton Times, writes in high spirits now that the C. P. R. has struck that hunch. He says the stowaway people talk about pushing the summit of the Rockies this fall but he thinks they will do well if they get there next July. The major has a large contract from the C.P.R. and another to complete the Government fort and erect eleven new buildings, which are to cost $30,000—all of which taxes to the utmost the capacity of his mill.

The following cablegram has been received by the Minister of Agriculture: "From Sir Charles Tupper: The English authorities declared that the Canadian cattle imported in the Oregon and Niagara were diseased, and ordered them to be slaughtered. I went to Liverpool on Monday and succeeded in demonstrating that the cattle were free from any disease. I returned last night to London, and this morning the Secretary of the Privy Council assures me that orders will be given immediately for the release of all Canadian cattle." This will be good news for Canadians.

THE NORTH WEST COUNCIL

THURSDAY, Sept. 13.

The Lieut-Governor took the chair at 2 o'clock.

THE MUNICIPAL BILL.

The bill was taken up and on this and succeeding days good progress was made. The Council sitting every day since Monday as early as 9 o'clock a.m. The bill virtually passed yesterday and there is now little doubt that Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Regina, Qu'Appelle and other places can have an opportunity of adequate incorporation.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Mr. Oliver brought in a bill on this subject.

FRIDAY, Sept. 14.

His Honor took the chair at 2 o'clock and the Municipal Bill was proceeded with.

MONDAY, Sept. 17.

The Governor took the chair at 9 a.m. the bill dealing with Municipalities occupied the whole day.

On Tuesday the Committee from the Civic Committee waited on the Council and made suggestions to the effect that one month's residence and freedom of tenancy to the amount of $200 should qualify voters, and that the qualification of mayor, aldermen or councillors should be those assessed in their own right or in the right of their wives as freeholders to the amount of $200, or tenants $1,000 or a rateable proportion of each, that the qualification of voters on by-law creating debts should be freeholders in their own right or right of their wives or tenants whose tenancy extends beyond the time by laws have to run, the number of aldermen or councillors in each ward should be defined, and that the number of wards (whether as to one or more) should be optional.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19.

Mr. Jackson presented a memorial to the Governor-General praying for a redress of grievance, which was ordered to stand for consideration.

The Municipal Bill passed through committee on the Council reading.

Mr. White gave notice that he would move that voting be by ballot.

MISCELLANEOUS BILLS.

During the week Bills on wards, convicts, protection of sheep, auctioneers, bankers' license, prairie fires, herd law and civil justice were advanced a stage.

The Council adjourned at 12 o'clock until 7:00 p.m., when they again took up the Municipal Bill and adopted some of the suggestions made by the Civic Committee.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Prince Albert Directory AND BUSINESS GUIDE.

It is proposed to issue a Business Directory for the town of Prince Albert, and District of Lorne in a pamphlet form which will contain the advertisements of each business establishment, (to be inserted at a moderate rate) and a descriptive notice of each.

The preface will contain a history of Prince Albert, its present condition and future prospects. Together with a table of the value of crops, as far as they can be ascertained for the District of Lorne, extent of acreage cultivated, number of horses per acre, increase over last year's crop, population of District, and other useful information, written by a well-known journalist.

About 400 or more copies will be published (according to the encouragement received) which will be distributed throughout the Dominion and the Mother Country.

It is hoped that by this means, benefit will result, not only to each individual advertiser and subscriber, but that the whole country will become better known and appreciated both at home and abroad and a healthy emigration encouraged to this country.

Price of advertisement, which page, with notice on opposite page, $10; two copies given free. Single copies, 50 cts.

Competition of the Beauties.

London has a beauty competition wherein the public are invited to vote for the woman they think the loveliest among the most of the beauties of the year. Mrs. Langtry won off with the laurel, which she held for clear three weeks. She was married by Lady Dufferin and Lady Louisa, two actresses, Miss Gillies and Miss Drew, young well-to-do while Mrs. Langtry and Miss Langtry Venus, one of the stage, led a flock of fifteen, who failed off to Miss Florence St. John and Miss Follie Houghton, struggling in the rear. At the fifth week

Lady Dufferin and Lady Louisa's forget should with 136 votes each, against 129 on the Lily, who was collared by Connie Gilchrist with 128 also. Miss Cleverly Scott drew lying a loose third with 120 this field maintained the same order until three weeks ago, when Lady Dufferin and Lady Louisa dropped out, by request, it is supposed, and Miss Drew took up the running, the numbers being at last accounts: Drew, 181; Gilchrist, 174; Kate Vaughan, 154; Daisy Vennor, 131; Mrs. Maddick, 137; Mrs. Langtry, 128.

MOUNTED POLICE.

The Mounted Police Force, for rather some members of it have been recently rather severely handled by the Regina Leader. Of the merits of the charges made, we have nothing to say at present, but presume that they will be investigated by the proper authorities, and if proved, the guilty parties punished. But it is unfair to blame the whole force for the delinquencies of a few black sheep who are to be found in every flock. Taking it as a whole, the Force is an excellent one, suited to the circumstances of the country, and so, as a general rule, well officered and composed of respectable and well behaved men, who discharge their responsible, and oft times delicate duties, in a highly creditable manner.

The detachment stationed in Prince Albert is no exception to the rule and no discredit to the Force, and we were therefore sorry to observe in a communication published in our last issue, signed "a penny home public," on the subject of "bribe money," a reflection upon their efficiency, which we think is as unfounded as it is unfounded in fact.

The Mounted Police are not night-watchmen, and it is no part of their duty to be prowling about investigating the cause of every unseemly noise which may disturb the peaceful slumbers of our citizens. In no community is a policeman, or a constable, any more than a private citizen, unless clothed with the authority of a warrant, or unless a crime is committed under his eye and he catches the criminal in the act, or a citizen, or a constable, any more than a private citizen, unless clothed with the authority of a warrant, or unless a crime is committed under his eye and he catches the criminal in the act, or a citizen, or a constable, any more than a private citizen, unless clothed with the authority of a warrant, or unless a crime is committed under his eye and he catches the criminal in the act.

The subject of prohibition and the temperance question generally, is one upon which there is a wide and serious difference of opinion, and it is one that has puzzled, and is now puzzling, the heads of the wisest statesmen and reformers of the old world and the new. Our attention has been called to an address of this great reformer, John Bright, on the subject, on the occasion of the opening of the Golden Jubilee in Birmingham, in which he points out the difficulties surrounding the question in England, and suggests remedies to the present system from which we shall make some extracts in a future issue. In the mean time we would suggest "moderation" to our temperance friends. They have a good cause which commands itself to the support of all right thinking men, but many a good cause has been ruined by fanaticism and ill-timed advocacy. Be temperate in all things—especially in speech. "Hard words butter no parsnips," and abuse of an opponent does not do any good to any cause. But to return to the Mounted Police and their duties. Few people know anything of the extent and nature of those. We were aware that they were called upon to perform exact duty in the carriage of large sums of money about the country for the payment of Indian treaties, but we did not know until the other day that they were called upon to act as deputy paymasters as well, and that task without any extra pay. Some two years ago, Sirg. Egan, we are informed, paid all the treaties in this district in the absence of the Indian agent, Mr. Rose and this year Constables Ross and Sullivan assisted in the payment of from ten to twelve thousand dollars of these monies. This is a very responsible position to occupy, exposed to great temptations and danger of robbery, and we think that the men engaged in it are entitled to extra pay, either in the way of commission or a gratuity. We are sure that Mr. Rose, the very efficient Indian agent for this district, (whose duties have been largely increased of late) would gladly join in representing the matter to the authorities, and that it would receive the approval of Her Majesty's Government. The officer in charge of the Force in this district.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Times.

SIR.—In your issue of Sept. 19th you call attention to the need of an agricultural society to the farmers of the surrounding country. A society of that kind is of paramount importance to the farmers themselves as a means of easily, cheaply and in a practical interesting manner giving a large amount of valuable information, not otherwise obtained except by expending a good deal of time and labor. In connection with such a society it would be of very great importance to establish a kind of seed show, sometime in winter, for the sale and exchange of seed grains. The value of changing seed from one locality to another can hardly be estimated and can be done at little cost to the producers, the grain ripens earlier, the yield is greater, and the quality is superior. Being yourselves, farmers, in this matter, try it and be convinced, and by all means give the "real fyt" the preference. It is the best milling and the best shipping wheat you can raise.

PROGRESS.

SPORTING NOTES.

AQUATIC.

Haikan will not go to Australia, but has challenged Laycock to a race on the Thames, England, for a prize of £2,000, $10,000.

Haikan, the Haligan favorite, has challenged Wallace Ross and Courtney to a race in single sculls for $1,000 a side. Ross has accepted, and a good race may be expected.

This has been a great season for regatta in the United States and Canada. Haikan who was recently beaten by Temmer in one of them, is evidently sickened of them, as he has announced his intention of rowing no more.

We observe that at the recent regatta at Memramook, New Brunswick, Conley the Nova Scotia champion, who with Haikan has repeatedly challenged Haikan and made to a race in double sculls, won the first prize, beating Temmer, second, Ross, third, and Haikan, last.

We regret to see by Halifax papers that Warren Smith the once celebrated Nova Scotia sculler is supposed to be amongst the many victims of the recent terrible storm on the Banks of Newfoundland, his vessel being amongst the missing. Smith was one of the fishermen's four oared crew of Nova Scotia, which won the first prize at the Centennial Regatta, but were jockeyed out of it by the English crew. He also on two occasions vanquished Wallace Ross, the New Brunswick sculler, in single sculls, and repeatedly won the championship of Halifax Harbor. It is singular that his brother, Obed who was also one of the Centennial crew, met with a watery grave, having been drowned in Halifax Harbor by his boat being run down by an Albatross steamer. In connection with Warren's supposed death we notice in a Halifax paper that some of his friends have conspired a forger's tale, who says that he has been picked up by a passing vessel and gone on a long voyage. We fear the long voyage from which there is no return.

But the sun, how far away
From the bread of heaven to me.

God knows it is hard to fret and strive
For the gold that men are proud to give,
But the sun, how far away
From the bread of heaven to me.
